

IPPIG Meeting 18th May 2018

We started the meeting with a couple of interesting videos - the first giving hints on settings that safeguard the information on an iPhone or iPad and the second revealing hidden features in the Camera app. Colin demonstrated the Live Photo feature on the camera which can turn a still photo into a short video.

Colin then spoke about iCloud, saying that two main advantages of using it is saving space on the device and being able to share information between one's devices. The Settings app allows various apps, such as Photos and Pages documents, to be selected to be included in iCloud.

Trish demonstrated Flipboard, an app that allows you to select and read news items, articles and pictures of subjects that interest you, from world-wide sources, such as newspapers, magazines, etc. Items of special interest can then be indexed and filed in the app.

Peter showed us some hidden features in Safari, such as tapping and holding the Previous Item icon, which then shows all the websites that have been visited during a session. And tapping and holding the Show Open Tabs enables the user to delete all open tabs.

Barbara then demonstrated an interesting sketching app, Inspire Pro. The app includes a large selection of sizes and types of brushes, a huge range of colours and the ability to paint in different styles. She showed some of the paintings she had done with the app.

27 people attended the session and we all learned something.
